“ Frankie, you had my heart the day you were born. I will love you through eternally, then when we meet again, we can throw one hell of a party. Catch you on the flip side.

“ It was fun and scary for me at the same time to be in the same car with dad. He would like to take sharp corners going 60 mph. He would laugh so hard with Aaron at my reaction. That's what made it great,... being able to see him smile. I love you dad and you will be missed.

“ I have known Frank since I was 5 years old, when we lived in the same apartment building and our mothers were friends. I didn't see Frank for many many years, later when I married and moved to Freesoil I saw him again. What a small world. RIP Frank.
